Don't miss this unique opportunity to share knowledge, learn new skills and improve extension.

The APEN Conference is an international meeting for rural and community advisory practitioners, researchers, and academics who combine the best extension research and practice from developing and developed countries.

In September 2019, Darwin will play host to the conference for the first time. Opening a pathway for South-East Asia practitioners, researchers, and academics to network and liaise with Australian and New Zealand extension professionals. An unmissable opportunity to hear from leading experts, thought leaders and industry professionals in an unforgettable destination.
