NSW	UNE/Sheep CRC (Available at TAFE Western Institute and TAFE Illawarra Institute)	Graduate Certificate in Agriculture (Agricultural Consulting)	Y	CSLT 401/501 Business skills for agricultural consultants CSLT 402/502 Client service skills for agricultural consultants	CSLT 401/501 Business skills for agricultural consultants: This unit has three modules with the first about strategy, strategic thinking, problem solving and the management of strategic change in the agribusiness context. It will enable you to prepare a strategic plan, business plan and marketing plan for farm businesses. The second module equips the consultant or extension practitioner with an understanding of the media in Australia and skills to develop media releases and do radio interviews. These are most important for consultants and advisors, but also useful skills for farm managers. Module three provides an overview of some of the legal issues that agricultural consultants are likely to face including legal liabilities, rights and responsibilities, employment performance and legal issues for clients. These are also useful for farm managers. CSLT 402/502 Client service skills for agricultural consultants: This unit provides two discrete modules for agricultural consultants to assist their clients' businesses or for farm managers to run their own business. The first module covers Whole of Enterprise Planning, allowing the business to be viewed in an integrated manner including farm resources, production and finances. The second module improves the skill of the consultant in dealing with their clients or farm managers dealing with staff and contractors, covering the essential tools of communication, facilitation and negotiation. Managers of corporate farms, those who take on industry leadership roles (e.g. in various committees) and those whose expertise sees them as invited speakers at events and field days, will find these skills particularly useful.	This is a four-unit course; along with the two core units, two electives must also be taken. A wide range of units in technical, agri-business or other agricultural areas are available at UNE, enabling you to upgrade your knowledge and skills in areas most relevant to you. The course can be completed in a minimum of 1 year (as the core units are only offered in separate trimesters) or in a maximum of 2 years, by part-time study. (Should you need to extend past 2 years, it is imperative you seek approval in advance through the UNE student centre).The core units do NOT have residential schools - online. Most electives will have a residential school and some of these will be mandatory (view each unit on the UNE web site to find this information). 	UNE/GRDC	Diploma in Agriculture	Y	Coursework program: Sustainable Grains Production	GRNS303/503 Grain farming and the industry systems: This unit provides students with an understanding of the relevant industry systems within which the Australian grains industry operates. Topics include Quality Assurance (QA) systems within the grains industry, occupational health and safety principles, human resource management on-farm, socio-economics of grain production, grain processing and products, marketing and finance, risk management, and information systems for grain production. Students will be required to attend the equivalent of a 3-day intensive school to cover practical aspects of the unit. GRNS503 is based on the undergraduate unit GRNS303 with additional load consisting of extra questions on assignments and examinations and candidates for GRNS503 will be expected to show a greater level of understanding of the unit material than that required for GRNS303. GRNS 302/502 Grains and the Environment: This unit provides students with an understanding of the environmental, sustainability and legal issues surrounding the Australian grains industry. Topics include the ecology and sustainability of grain production, crop and pasture rotations, environmental impacts and their management, legal issues associated with landuse, and property management planning. Students will be required to attend the equivalent of a 3-day intensive school to cover practical aspects of the unit. GRNS502 is based on the undergraduate unit GRNS302 with additional load consisting of extra questions on assignments and examinations and candidates for GRNS502 will be expected to show a greater level of understanding of the unit material than that required for GRNS302.	Off campus. Intensive components (2014): GRNS303 - For northern NSW and Qld students, school will be held in Toowoomba in late March/early April, with exact dates to be advised. For southern NSW, Victorian and SA students, school timing will be similar, but the location has yet to be decided. GRNS 302 - For northern NSW and Qld students, school will be held in Tamworth in late March/early April, with exact dates to be advised. For southern NSW, Victorian and SA students, school timing will be similar, but the location has yet to be decided. To complete the Diploma in Agriculture 48units need to be completed - 1 year full-time. ACT	Australian Rural Leadership Foundation	Graduate Certificate of Rural Leadership	Y	The successful completion of the ARLP is recognised by the awarding of a Graduate Certificate of Rural Leadership by James Cook University, for those who enrol in this option.	The program works to improve the capacity of rural leaders to engage wherever a challenge is best addressed and wherever they can contribute most effectively. This may be within communities and industries, in the political arena or in team-based roles	The Australian Rural Leadership Program (ARLP) is rural Australia's iconic leadership development program. It is a 59 day program, delivered in six sessions over 17 months. Five of these sessions take place in locations across Australia, and one component takes place overseas. Group size is 30 to 35 leaders.		1st Floor, Forest Industries House, 24 Napier Close, Deakin, ACT, 2600 Phone 0262810680	http://rural-leaders.com.au/programs/australian-rural-leadership-program-for-established-leaders

ACT NSW QLD SA VIC WA	Change Management Institute	Change Management Accreditation	Y	Change Management Practitioner Competency Model: Skills - facilitating change, strategic thinking, thinking and judgement, influencing others, coaching for change, project management, communication, self-management, facilitation - meetings and workshops, professional development, specialist expertise (for e.g. communication or learning and development)	CMi's mission is to promote excellence in the management of change by setting standards, educating and supporting change management practitioners and promoting the value of change management. Accreditation is a recognised, professional standard. The model was launched in 2008 following an 18 month project to develop an independent industry benchmark which would be applicable across a range of countries and industries. It was originally drafted by a team of change management practitioners, business users, service providers and academics and included a significant period of public review. The model is used in a variety of ways and is reviewed every two years to ensure that it keeps up with the development of the change management profession. The Model was reviewed and updated in 2011 and reissued. We will ensure that the model is regularly reviewed and encapsulates all of the key competencies for an effective change leader. 	Change Management Institute	Workshops	N	Masterclass Workshops & Mastermind Groups	Masterclass Workshops: These advanced sessions support you in mastering a specific change skill or discipline. Usually run over a full day, the master will demonstrate the skills and provide insightful advice on your approach and style. These events focus on adult learning techniques and often using action learning approaches. Masterclasses typically include practical application, assessment and mentoring to support you in mastering the specific skill. Mastermind Groups: A mastermind draws together a small group of like-minded change professionals. The members of the mastermind bring a synergy of energy, excitement, commitment and collaboration to the group. Participants share ideas, experiences, skills; they stretch each other by challenging each person to create and implement goals, brainstorm ideas and support each other with honesty, confidentiality, respect and compassion. Masterminds are a learning and collaborative environment that catalyse growth and professional development.	1 day program		info@change-management-institute.com	https://www.change-management-institute.com/masterclass-mastermind
	Change Management Institute	Workshops	N	Building Capability	A broad range of events are run each year that are tailored to support ongoing growth in your capability and key competency areas.
